These beautiful little violas bring a wonderful splash of colour to the paving at the front of church . Growing between the paving stones, they add a simple and natural charm to the historic surroundings. A lovely reminder that even the smallest flowers can bring joy and beauty to a special place.

Father God,

We pause to give thanks for the warmth of long days, the beauty of ripening fields, the joy of rest, play, and gathering.

We are grateful for sunlight on our skin, for nights lit by stars, and the stillness of quiet mornings.

As the season turns, bless the work of our hands and the learning of our minds.

Guide us into the rhythm of autumn with its call to harvest, reflection, and steady growth. Amen
